INTRODUCTION

This is the eighth volume of the Lancaster series (Part II) of the edition of the London customs accounts (TNA: PRO E122). It is comprised of 1) the tunnage and poundage controlment roll for 1442/43, and 2) the wool customs and subsidy particulars of account for 1444/45.

Everything the reader needs to understand about the English customs system – and the peculiarities of the customs administration in London – has been detailed in the introduction to the pilot volume.¹ There are, however, some minor issues which need to be dealt with.

TUNNAGE AND POUNDAGE ACCOUNT (1442/43)

Licences were a frequent feature of the later years of Henry VI's reign. In the tunnage and poundage account for 1442/43, there are two kinds of licences, namely for the export of grain and for the import of wine. The auditor marked up the corresponding shipments either as per licenciam domini regis or per patentem domini regis. However, things are not quite as straightforward as they might seem.

As the enrolled account indicates,² the king had, by mandate to the customers dated 12 Apr. 1443,³ granted merchants exporting wheat and other victuals and fodder for horses to Bayonne and Bordeaux for the victualling of these towns (pro vitellacione earundem villarum) after 16 April 1443, freedom from poundage, providing the merchants found surety prior to export that the shipments were, in fact, destined exclusively for Bayonne or Bordeaux and that they – upon return to England – presented depositions under the seal of the authorities there (litteras sub sigillo autentico) that the food and fodder had indeed been discharged in the said cities. This mandate possibly explains the marginated entries for John Melbourne's exports of live oxen on 16 Sept. 1443 (ships 246, 247).

However, the grain exports marked up as per licenciam or per patentem domini regis were executed far too early to have been warranted by the king's mandate. Instead, they were warranted by individual licences, as listed in the following table.

1. On 25 Nov. 1442, Richard Pygge received a licence, valid for one year, to export 800 quarters of oats to Brabant or Zealand to enable him to pay the ransom (250 marks) of his brother, master John Pygge, chaplain, who had been imprisoned while returning to England via Florence from a pilgrimage to Rome, by the duke of Savoy's son (TNA: PRO, C76/125 m 15; DKR 48, p. 356; S 3 in the web version).
2. On 26 Jan. 1443, Richard Pygge and Reginald Cook received a licence to export 200 quarters of barley - either personally or through their deputies - to Holland or Zealand (TNA: PRO, C76/125 m 13; DKR 48, p. 356; S 2 in the web version).
3. In Feb. 1443, John Beket, London stockfishmonger, received a licence to export 40 quarters of oats - either personally or through his deputies - to Holland or Zealand (TNA: PRO, C76/125 m 12; DKR 48, p. 357; S 1 in the web version).

Obtaining a royal licence was a prudent measure to take for those intending to export, since Burgundy (which in 1442/43 included Holland, Zealand and Brabant) had switched sides in the Hundred Years War at the Congress of Arras in 1435, abandoning its alliance with England and siding with France.⁴ Although commercial relations were restored by the treaty of 29 Sept. 1439, this only applied to trade with Flanders, Brabant and the lordship of Malines.⁵ It was not until 1445 that England was able to settle its differences with Holland and Zealand.⁶ However advisable it was to obtain a royal licence to export grain to Holland, Zealand and Brabant, it was of no interest whatsoever to the Exchequer, since all three licences stipulated that the beneficiaries were to pay customs and subsidies on their exports. Consequently, these licences were not mentioned in the enrolled account⁷ or in the final audit.⁸

Finally, there is one per patentem domini regis margination which is altogether mysterious. There is no licence transmitted either in the patent rolls or the French rolls (C76) which would explain why Thomas Onehand's exports of oats and barley on 15 Dec. 1442 were marked up by the auditor.

Since the wine licences involved goods which the king had freed from tannage, thus occasioning a loss of crown income, the Exchequer had to deal with them. The reason given for the grants in the licences themselves was that (as the attorney of the licencees swore in chancery) the wine had been purchased and imported by the deputies of the licencees for consumption in their households (pro expensis hospiciorum suorum) and was not intended for sale, as the enrolled account notes.⁹ The beneficiaries of these licences are listed in the table.

Beneficiary	Ship No.	Date of import	Margined entry
Robert Roose kt.	76	26 Feb. 1443	per breve
Humphrey, duke of Gloucester	81	26 Feb. 1443	nichil
Henry [Beaufort] cardinal	81	26 Feb. 1443	nichil
John Stafford, chancellor of England	81	26 Feb. 1443	nichil
William, earl of Suffolk	81	26 Feb. 1443	nichil
Thomas Beckyngton, king's secretary	112, 113	21 May 1443	(no mark up)

Consequently, when the customers accounted before the Exchequer, they petitioned for exoneration for the corresponding sums, proffering three mandates - dated 12 May 1443 (for Robert Roose), 10 Mar. 1443 (for Gloucester, Beaufort, Stafford, Suffolk) and 14 Apr. 1443 (for Bekyngton) - which the king had directed to them. None of these mandates has survived in the original, nor were they enrolled, so that we only know of them because they were summarized in the enrolled account. Apparently, the auditor accepted the mandates at face value, since the enrolled account records only the customers' petition for exoneration, but the audit of the account records no discussion of this petition, much less a decision.

Finally, there is one unsolvable mystery in regard to the imports recorded in this account. The auditor noted that the ship of Arnold Monys (no. 127) was de domo de cardinalle, i.e. Henry Beaufort, bishop of Winchester. Neither the account itself nor the enrolled account or the final audit provides any explanation of this mark up.

WOOL CUSTOMS AND SUBSIDY ACCOUNT 1444/45

At first sight, the wool account for 1444/45 presents some mysteries, but these are readily cleared up.

The first concerns the rates charged aliens for wool subsidy. According to the parliamentary grant, valid from 11 Nov. 1443,¹⁰ aliens were required to pay 53s 4d per sack (or 240 woolfells). However, a quick calculation reveals that the customers charged them 10s per sack less. The enrolled account reveals the reason. By royal mandate issued under the privy seal on 14 July 1442 and directed to the ⁹ TNA: PRO, E356/16 m 26 § 7 (A 4 in the web version).

¹⁰ Rotuli Parliamentorum 5, p. 38.

Exchequer,¹¹ the king remitted 10s in the sack to Italian merchants, so that they were only liable to pay wool subsidy at the rate of 43s 4d per sack (or 240 woolfells). Consequently, the customers simply did not respond to the crown for the 10s which the king had remitted.

A total of five writs were sewn onto various pages of the particulars of the wool customs and subsidy account: 1) a writ de non molestando in favor of Thomas Walsingham (f. 1^v, ship 2, p. 154); 2) a writ de non molestando in favor of Geroso de Pillis and Belizardo de Bardes of Florence (f. 3^v, ship 4, p. 157); 3) a writ de non molestando in favor of Benedict Boromei of Florence (f. 4^v, ship 9, p. 158); and 4) & 5) two writs - one directed to the Exchequer, the other to the customers in London, Chichester and Southampton - in favor of Nicholas Laurence, citizen and merchant of Paris (f. 5^v, ship 12, p. 160). It seems best to elucidate these writs individually.

The writ de non molestando in favor of Walsingham¹² is just what the name says: an order from the king to the London wool customers, directing them to allow Thomas Walsingham to export wool according to the terms of the licence the king had granted him on 8 May 1441 and not to molest him therein in any way. This licence had granted Walsingham the right, valid for life, to export 100 sacks of wool yearly via London or Southampton to Italy in Italian ships (in galeis seu carracis), paying customs and subsidy at indigenous rates and without payment of the Calais duties.¹³ This freed Walsingham from the terms of the statute 20 Hen. VI c. 4,¹⁴ which had mandated that indigenous merchants exporting wool and other staple merchandise elsewhere than to Calais (e.g. to Italy) were to pay at the (higher) alien rate.

The writ de non molestando in favor of the Florentine merchants Geroso de Pillis and Belizardo de Bardes¹⁵ is similar. In this mandate, the king ordered the London wool customers to allow the two said merchants to export wool by the terms of the licence he had granted them on 7 Dec. 1442.¹⁶ That licence, in turn, had permitted the Florentines to export 400 sacks of bearded wool from London to Lombardy via Middelburg or Antwerp. The Londoner mercers Thomas Oonhand and John Harowe mainprised - each for 2000 marks sterling - that the Florentines would, in fact, pay all applicable customs, subsidies and duties and ship the wool nowhere else than to Lombardy. Since the Florentines had already exported 388 sacks and 22 cloves of wool by the terms of this licence, the writ de non molestando sewn onto f. 3^v of our account applied only to the remainder (11 sacks and 30 cloves).

¹⁶ TNA: PRO, C76/125 m 15 dated 7 Dec. 1442. The calendar in DKR 48, p. 356 omits the names of the beneficiaries.

The same holds true for the writ de non molestando in favor of Benedict Boromei dated 20 Sept. 1445, whereby the king ordered the London wool customers to allow the Florentine merchant to export wool by the terms of the licence he had granted him on 27 June 1443.¹⁷ That licence, in turn, had permitted Boromei to export 600 sacks of wool (either personally or through his attorneys) from London to Lombardy via Middelburg or Antwerp. The London mercers William Melreth and Mathew Fowecher mainprised - each for 1000 marks sterling - that Boromei would, in fact, pay all applicable customs, subsidies and duties and ship the wool nowhere other than to Lombardy.

The last two writs are explained in the account itself (ship No. 12, p. 160). No wool customs, subsidy or Calais duties were collected on the 20 sacks of wool exported by Nicholas Laurence, merchant and citizen of Paris, by warranty of 1) a royal mandate dated 7 Sept. 1445 and directed to the customers and 2) another royal mandate dated 22 Nov. 1445 and directed to the Exchequer, both of which were sewn onto the left-hand margin of f. 5^v. It is only necessary to summarize these sources. The mandate directed to the customers¹⁸ noted that the king had granted a licence to the Parisian citizen and merchant Nicholas Laurence to purchase 20 sacks of wool in England and export it to English France (in regnum nostrum Francie) free of customs, subsidy and other duties, and ordered the customers to allow Nicholas to export the said wool according to the terms of the licence. The licence to which the mandate referred¹⁹ was issued on 7 Aug. 1445 and permitted Laurence to buy 20 sacks of wool of whatever sort he wished anywhere in England and to export that wool to English France (in regnum nostrum Francie) free of customs, subsidy and all other duties. The mandate to the Exchequer sewn onto the margin of f. 5^v of our account²⁰ summarized the export licence and the mandate to the customers and ordered the Exchequer to allow and exonerate (debite allocetis et exoneretis) the customers correspondingly when they accounted, provided they produced the mandates directed to them. Consequently, the customers did not respond to the Exchequer for any crown revenues in this case.

The customers' particulars of account were fiscal documents, forming an integral part of the procedure imposed on the customers when accounting for the crown's customs income before the Exchequer. As such, they were marked up by the auditor when he summed up the crown's income according to the various categories and tariffs. These marginated annotations form an integral part of the source and, in my view of it, deserve to be reproduced in full. I have done this in the following way. First of all, the auditor's summations of income at the end of each page or membrane (including the jottings reproducing the position of the counters on the

¹⁸ No. S 7 in the web version.

¹⁹ TNA: PRO, C 76/127 m 2 (DKR 48, p. 367). No. S 1 in the web version.

counting table) have been reproduced as written in the account. Second, all other marginated notes (e.g. a cross or an asterisk indicating an error) are noted in the normal way in the critical apparatus. However, recording the eternally repetitive marginal notes on the tariff categories to which particular products belonged (panni ind', panni al', panni Hans', per breve etc.) call for a different solution, since including them in the critical apparatus would simply blimp it up to no useful purpose. Consequently, I have indicated them in the text by employing superscript letters in angle brackets (e.g. ^{}De Roberto Derlyngton) and resolving these in a block at the bottom of the page (Auditor's marginated notations L:  panni ind').

The problem of the hundredweight is exceedingly vexed. While it is well known that a hundredweight can correspond to 100 lb., 112 lb. or 120 lb. avoirdupois,²¹ there is no way to know which of these three values applies when a customer writes c lb. or fractions and multiples thereof. Just occasionally, when the particulars of account and the controlment roll have survived, some insight is possible, for instance if one of the two records a particular merchant's exports of pewter vessels as di' c lb. vasorum stanni and the other the same goods as lvj lb. vasorum stanni.²² But these cases are far too rare to inspire confident generalizing. Consequently, I have decided to leave the matter unsolved, marking the text in such a way that the reader can easily reconstruct the entry. The most common notation of weight – multiples of 'c' – has not been marked up. Thus ijj^c lb. is simply transcribed as 300 lb. If the thousand sign was used, the number is marked with a cross: thus, ij M[†] lb. is transcribed as 2000[†] lb. (but xx^c lb. as 2000 lb.) If the sign for one half is used, this is indicated by an asterisk: thus, di' c lb. is transcribed as 50* lb. (but l lb. as 50 lb.) And finally, if the sign for one quarter is used, this is indicated by a double cross: thus, c q' lb. is transcribed as 125[‡] lb.

Diplomatic Notes on the Form of the Edition

The transcriptions of Latin documents in this edition observe the conventions of the Monumenta Germaniae Historica. The source texts (and all variants) are reproduced in normal type, while editorial intrusions are printed without exception in italics (e.g. mardre L3, in error). Unambiguous abbreviations are expanded silently, without using square brackets or italics to indicate missing letters. u/v and i/j have been regularized silently to accord with pronunciation: thus vniuersalis in the source text is rendered universalis, while 'i' is transcribed if the letter is pronounced as a vowel (imperii), and 'j' if the letter is pronounced as a consonant, i.e. like the 'y' in 'you' (majestas), even if the source writes imperij and maiestas.

Personal names and place names are transcribed exactly as written and only regularized in the Index of People and Places.

²¹ OED s.v. hundredweight.

Roman numerals are reproduced as Arabic numerals, except for the sovereign's ordinal (Edwardi ivth). Arabic numerals which occur in the source texts are indicated by bold type. ob' is given as ½d, q' as ¼d and ob' q' as ¾d.

Following the convention in German, I have used a full stop after a number to indicate the ordinal rather than the cardinal, if a number is not written out. Thus, 27. die Januarii (p. 147) is to be understood as vicesimo septimo die Januarii, rather than viginti septem die Januarii.

When transcribing the customs accounts, I have numbered the ships consecutively in italics in square brackets. The individual paragraphs of longer texts have also been numbered in the same way. The reason for this is that the web version of the accounts and accounting materials for the Lancastrian period has no pagination, since the amount of text displayed on the screen depends on the size of the monitor and its resolution. Consequently, cross references – whether within a single document, from one document to another or in the indices – to ‘page thus-and-such’ are meaningless, and some internal sub-division of the text which can be linked in is unavoidable. Since some scholars will want to use the printed version of the edition and others the web edition, it is necessary to provide a common basis. Thus, if one scholar refers to ship No. 24 in the digital version of a particular account, those using the printed version will be able to find the vessel in question.

All dates and cross references in the source texts have been resolved in italics in square brackets in the text of the edition, rather than in footnotes.

If both the particulars of account and the controlment roll survive, certain variants have been suppressed to avoid inflating the text-critical apparatus. Thus, neither the substitution of ‘y’ in one text for ‘i’ in the other (e.g. Willyamson, Williamson) nor middle English plural variants (-es, -is, -ys etc.) have been noted in the apparatus criticus. In general, I have limited the notation of textual variants to those cases in which the variant spelling of a word changes the pronunciation. Thus, the variant federbeds will be noted against fetherbeds, but not fedderbeds or federbedes against federbeds.

Punctuation is artificial and ignores all medieval full stops, commas and so forth. Since Latin is a syntactic language (like German), the eminently useful MGH convention – namely to employ punctuation (according to the pre-reform German rules) to mark up the grammatical structure of the sentence – has been employed here. I have also broken up the stylistically elegant, but utterly incomprehensible run-on Latin sentences of the source texts into manageable units.

Since we are dealing with late medieval administrative Latin, there are some cases which call for local by-laws.

First of all, there are a number of middle English words embedded in the Latin texts which have to be assigned a gender, since they are often modified by an abbreviated adjective (e.g. pro 1 parv' fetherbed). Since the adjectives are written out in a number of instances (pro 1 parvo fetherbed), I have arbitrarily imposed a masculine grammatical gender on all middle English words rather than litter the edition with apostrophes.

Second, the sources themselves are in a muddle as to whether the words custuma and subsidium are singular or plural, and usually avoid the problem by writing cust' and subs'. If a scribe does write out the one or the other word, it is almost inevitable that he will contradict himself, writing custuma in one line and custume a few lines later. This muddle is not merely the result of scribal carelessness or low standards of Latinity. In the fifteenth century, it was possible to differentiate between the collective noun (in the singular) denoting the charges to be paid and the individual sums (in the plural) which each merchant rendered. Even bearing this in mind, however, scribes are simply not consistent. Taking each individual text as a whole, I have done my best to reproduce what the scribe seemed to be thinking.

INDEX OF PEOPLE AND PLACES

In accordance with current usage, the first names of Englishmen and -women have been standardized to their current forms. Thus Willelmus in the accounts is indexed as William and so forth. Italian and Spanish first names are given in the 'ab-lative' (Andrea, Beaceo, Roderigo rather than Andreas, Beaceus, Roderigus). The first names of other foreigners, who are largely Dutch and German, are normally indexed in something approaching their modern forms, e.g. Johannes, Jacob, Her-man, Hugo rather than Hugh (which would indicate an Englishman). However, it is not possible to be entirely consistent. Take, as an example, Willelmus. Is one to index Hanseatic merchants as Wilhelm, but Dutch merchants and shippers as Wil-lem or Wim and the Dinanters as Guillaume? To do so would simply be to intro-duce incredible confusion, entirely leaving aside the intractable problem of distin-guishing between merchants of Dutch and Hanseatic origin. Therefore, in a number of cases I have indexed Dutch and German merchants' first names in the current English form: e.g. Paul, William, Laurence, Andrew, Henry.

Family names have been grouped, where possible, in the index, with cross refer-ences leading the reader from the variants to the main entry, which records all vari-ant spellings in parentheses. However, given the inconsistency of the customers' scribes, I have found it impossible to resolve all doubts and have therefore tried to steer a middle course between the splitters and the lumpers. There are cases where there can be no doubt that divergent spellings denote one and the same merchant. On the other hand, there are cases where I am all but certain that variant spellings denote one person, yet am troubled by nagging doubts. In these cases I record the names separately and referred back and forth ('see also N.N.').

The order of the family names in the index is phonological, so that, for instance, 'y' is alphabetized as 'i'.

Place names are in small capitals.

INDEX OF SUBJECTS

The index is structured so as to serve as a glossary. Hence, the main entry is under the word as it appears in the sources (zinziber), and a cross-reference leads the reader from the modern English term to the main entry (ginger see zinziber). If a term is in Middle English, the plural form is also given (e.g. alle hafte, -s); if in Latin, the genitive (e.g. allec, ecis). More than one reference per page is not noted.
